THE HORROR OF INDIAN CALL CENTER RECRUITERS WHO LIE AND ABUSE U.S. CANDIDATES WITH INCOMPREHENSIBLE PITCHES AND GAMES

- NEVER RESPOND TO A "RECRUITER" WITH AN EXTREME INDIAN ACCENT, IT IS USUALLY A PHISHING SCAM.

I don't know what the fuck happened, but there is literally a shit ton of pajeets acting as recruiters. Now this is increasingly becoming annoying, because they are fucking drowning the entire tech scene with shitty candidates, and stealing client info. They literally pas you into interviews, and can NOT fucking tell you what the rate is, who the company is, what the job entails, or where it's located. They also rotate emails and numbers, so it becomes close to fucking impossible to block them from your email listings. Fucking A, these people have to go, they are a fucking drain on the tech scene. It's also not unheard of for your own fucking resume to make its way to a ban list, because two shitskins decided to double tap to the same client. Or use your online profile to send your job application, without your consent, so they could be "first to post". these people are fucking cancer, and horrendously aggressive when it comes to making quota. But not in a good way, more in a fraudulent "fuck the customer" type of way, who goes on to ignore this listing anyways.

The entire concept of recruiters is just shit to begin with. Hey do you want your new workers underpaid while you give half their salary to some retard pajeet who is just a parasitic drain on all the people she finds? Great plan

Tech worker here. My company likes to outsource development and top level engineers to curb costs but that's about the only pieces they outsource or H1B for. They tried to do it to the tech support floor where I'm at, and got to personally blow them the fuck out.

>Be me

>Working onnafloor one day

>Calls everywhere, no time for air

>Such is life

>Time to bring in some fresh meat to tackle call volume

>In walks a few guys and a pajeetess

>I can smell it already and it's not even to my spot yet

>Oh_shit.jpg

>It's being told to sit and shadow me

>Whatever

>I introduce myself

>then almost die from curry smell

>What I assume are words exit its mouth but its some language I don't understand

>All I get is she's from India and has a Masters in Computer Science

>oh_boy_here_we_go.gif

>start working and take a few calls

>show it the tools we use >including a command prompt >glance over every now and again to see a bewildered look on her face >this bitch has no fucking clue what she's looking at

>she doesn't know what a fucking COMMAND PROMPT is!!!!!

>also, masters degree in a low level tech support floor, wtf?

>she didn't show up the next day

Everything bad you hear about India is true. I got plenty more stories dealing with these assholes. Fuck them all.

The degree mills in India are the largest problem with these people. You'll find competent Indians in your life time, as soon as you do ask them where they graduated and they'll tell you University at Buffalo, MIT, RIT; not some po-dunk shit hole back in India that nobody living outside of their immediate providence has ever heard of. Those are the assholes who brag on and on about their masters degrees then turn around and try to force a PCI card into a memory slot.

Even them MIT ones can be as big a problem as their mill run brethren.

Cheating is a way of life for them. Even if you don't consider things like "study groups" cheating, they have already infiltrated many western universities. Don't trust any paper achievement from anyone. If they can't prove their skill don't use them, and if you don't know enough to judge what they know, find someone who does or you'll get fucked.

years ago I got a job designing ID cards. I didn't have design experience then but a background in web development. I got paired with a fat.

Job expected to take two weeks. Nearing the end of the first day I see her looking at me nervously. I notice her computer is turned off and I expect she's leaving early for some day. I ask her what's up and she seems desperate for help but makes small talk for a couple minutes.

Finally asks me HOW TO TURN ON THE COMPUTER. Bitch had been sitting there for hours, getting paid for doing nothing.

The job was easy too. Bitch wasn't asked back and the work could be finished in a few days instead of two weeks so they moved me to web design.

Once more- THE BITCH THAT SAID SHE KNEW DESIGN COULDN'T EVEN TURN ON A COMPUTER

Maybe the caste system was invented in the first place because this is the only way anyone can deal. It's not their fault white people introduced democracy and neo-liberal globalization. This is what our State Dept. constantly pushes as the shared values that are supposed to unite the whole world. Enlightenment ideals are the foundation of the Frankfurt School. What really happened is that industrialization created a bourgeois class that undermined the power of the nobility. The end result is exponentially increasing material capabilities combined with exponentially increasing materialism. And I don't think anyone likes this but it's become a categorical imperative for survival within the techno-industrial system. Without a strong monarchy there's no way of reining in the excesses of the system.

I don't like them either. I hate it even more that I have to be pushed in with them despite not being one.

Worst ones are the ones who call to setup an interview, but dont bother to tell you for what. Is this a pajeet thing, or are they just that fucking clueless?

I know what you mean. I simply hate having to deal with them, in a whole. Demanding people and very lazy. I deal with them providing tech support. Remoting to their computers that most have really lame connections really laggy and call for support on very old equipment and softwares. They always demand remote session and having them on the phone is really stressful.

How exactly do Pajeets make money doing this?
Who pays them?

1. Get a google voice number (or another company, who cares as long as you can burn it).

2. Get a disposable email address that you're going to burn in 3 weeks.

3. NEVER use your real contact info.

4. Every 3 weeks, post your resume online again and burn the previous contact info. Delete the email account, disconnect the voice number.

After 3 weeks of being on the market, that's when these shit recruiters get their hands on your info. You want to keep your resume top-grade fresh and at the top of the stack. Plus these retards never stop calling you. Never stop emailing you. Poison their data systems with old contact info that doesn't work. If they speak with an Indian accent, just hang up. Don't insult them, don't tell them not to call you. Just hang up. They ARE recruiters (albeit bad ones) and will get rumors in the tech recruiter circles about you so don't do anything that would cause recruiters to drop you.
