
Roseanne' Canceled; Why Not 'The View'?

News Commentary

By Ann |

The "Roseanne" revival was abruptly canceled by ABC Tuesday following crude, racist tweets sent by show star Roseanne Barr about former Obama aide Valerie Jarrett. And while there's absolutely no excuse for Barr's tweets, it's extremely hypocritical of ABC to continue airing "The View" given all the abhorrent things the co-hosts have said.

\(RELATED: 'Roseanne' Fans Boycott ABC After Show Cancellation\).

In February, Behar infamously and openly mocked the Christian faith of Vice President Mike Pence and millions of Americans when she proclaimed that the ability to hear messages from God is not a marker of faith, but "mental illness." It took Behar weeks to apologize, and she only did so after constant public criticism and ridicule.

\(RELATED: Comedian Joy Behar Mocks Mike Pence For Talking With Jesus: 'That's Called Mental Illness'\).

\(RELATED: Joy Behar Finally Apologizes for Mocking Christians\).

Further proving just how intolerant she truly is, the very same month she attacked Pence's faith, Behar also outright stated, "As a Democrat, I am offended by Republicans!"

\(RELATED: Joy Behar Explodes On Meghan McCain: 'I Am Offended By Republicans!'\).

But perhaps the most disgusting thing to ever fly out of Behar's mouth occurred in October 2016. During a discussion about Donald Trump's news conference prior to the second presidential debate, Behar called Bill Clinton's rape accusers "tramps." \(RELATED: Paula Jones Responds To Joy Behar For Calling Her a 'Tramp'\).