

Investigating the Investigators at DOJ and FBI

by sattkisson | on December 25, 2017 | in News | 21 Comments

Why do heads seem to be rolling—or at least tilting—at the Department of Justice and FBI?

Eight high ranking Department of Justice and FBI officials have been removed, reassigned or are rumored to be leaving. They include the top FBI agents who worked on two of the agency's most high-profile investigations in the past two years: the probe into Hillary Clinton's mishandling of classified information as secretary of state, and the Trump-Russia collusion investigation.

There's been a great deal of news coverage about allegations of collusion between President Trump and Russia;